

Transform an organisation with a Partnership PhD

Applied, cutting-edge research, specific to your organisation and co-funded by UWE Bristol.

A Partnership PhD bridges the gap between organisations and universities. It enables the organisation to gain access to cutting-edge, real world research that can help transform it.

The Partnership establishes a relationship between an organisation and UWE Bristol, based on a project specific to the organisation.

The PhD researcher can, supervised by experts from the University, focus on a real-world challenge relevant to the organisation.

The organisation will have the opportunity to choose the research area and gain access to cutting-edge research. The researcher will work extensively with them, including time at the organisation if appropriate.

In turn, the researcher will gain an opportunity to pursue their research in a real-world setting, developing transferable and interdisciplinary skills whilst gaining cross-sector experience.

A Partnership PhD is co-funded by the organisation and UWE Bristol.
